Red Cubs play hoops with youngsters from Colombia

By Joel G. Filamor

Red Cubs basketball players and coaches from the United States are participating in a friendly game with young players from Colombia at the Redemptorist Center in Bogotá. The game is part of a series of exchanges between the two countries to promote sports and cultural understanding.

The Red Cubs team, led by Coach Dash Ashvan Gordon Fox, is currently on a tour of Colombia. They are playing several games against local teams, including the youngsters from the Redemptorist Center. The games are held in a gymnasium that is well-lit and has a professional appearance.

The young players from Colombia are showing great talent and enthusiasm. They are learning a lot from the Red Cubs players and coaches. The games are not only fun but also a great way for the young players to improve their skills and learn from the experience.

Fr. Aloysius Maranan, OSB Rector-President (center) and Fr. Paul De Vera, OSB (right) exchange pleasantries with Colombia's Mariana Ocampo while Coach Dash Ashvan Gordon Fox (left) and Dr. Tita Branzuela (left front) watch the players warm-up.

The game is a friendly one, and both teams are playing hard. The Red Cubs players are showing their skills and experience, while the young players from Colombia are showing their potential and eagerness to learn. The atmosphere is very positive and encouraging.

The Red Cubs team is looking forward to continuing their tour of Colombia and playing more games with the young players. They believe that these exchanges are a great way to build relationships and promote sports and cultural understanding between the two countries.

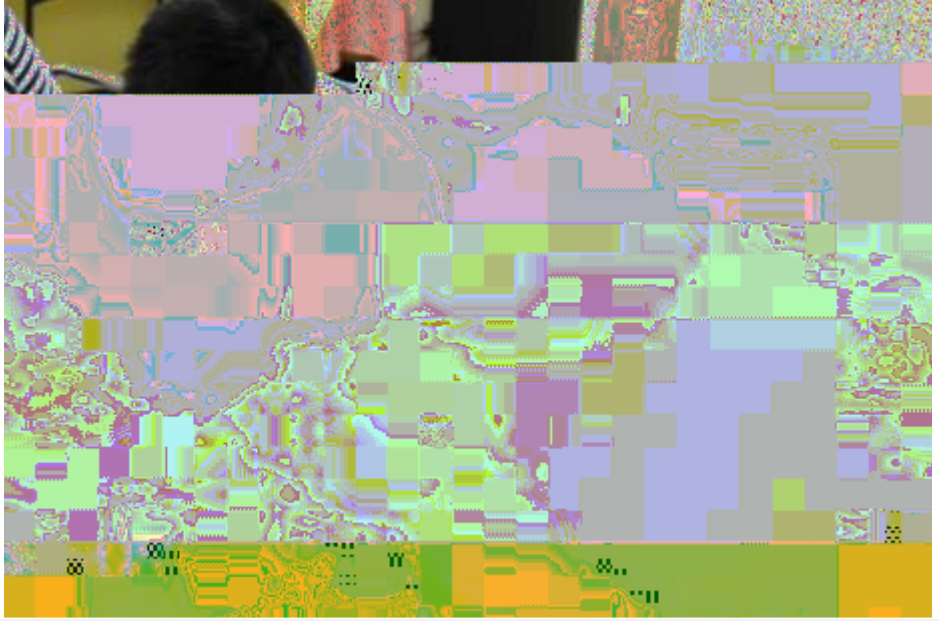

The young players from Colombia are very excited about the opportunity to play with the Red Cubs. They are looking forward to learning from the Red Cubs players and coaches and improving their skills. The games are a great way for them to experience the sport of basketball and to learn from the experience.
